SHIRT FITS

REGULAR

shirts have a straight and somewhat wide cut. This fit is suitable for men with a larger figure. They generally have back darts and often also two folds laid into the yoke to enable more freedom of movement in the shoulder area. A finish can be applied between the two side folds, albeit with a slightly limited width.

MODERN FIT

shirts have a gently tailored waist and suit men with a regular figure. The tailored cut supports an athletic figure but is forgiving if the wearer has the beginnings of a belly.

SHAPED

shirts are intended for men with a narrow waist and wide shoulders. This type of fit has back darts to emphasise the waist and a wider shoulder cut to enable more freedom of movement.

SLIM

shirts are narrower in the torso section and often have additional back darts to emphasise the figure. This type of fit is for men with an athletic figure and no belly.
